

DEPUTIES DIG ON POOLE FARM

Search for Other Bodies Believed Buried There.

SENSATIONS ARE EXPECTED

Brother-in-Law of the Alleged Slayer of Joseph Kemper Has Something of Startling Nature to Tell the Sheriff.

Fowler, Ind., May 5.—Equipped with picks and shovels, a score of deputies are digging up the farm of John Poole, near this city, in search of more bodies which it is believed have been buried there, since the dismembered body of Joseph Kemper of Chicago, a farm hand, was unearthed.

Manley Marlow, a brother-in-law of Poole, is expected to arrive in Fowler to give Sheriff Shackleton information of a startling nature. Marlow would not say what the information was.

"When I know that Poole is safely behind the bars I am going to tell the sheriff something which will surprise him."

The sheriff said that he had been told by a farmer that Marlow "could place his foot on the grave of at least one other man said to have been murdered on the Poole farm."

The digging up of the farm is under the direction of Coroner Arthur Lesage, State's Attorney John Hall and Sheriff Shackleton. Neighbors of Poole, who was known as "Shotgun John," told the sheriff that many farm hands had mysteriously disappeared who had been hired by Poole.

Miss Grace Poole, daughter of the prisoner, who believes her father is innocent, and Emory Poole, who discovered the dismembered body and upon whose complaint the police arrested the farmer, are in Fowler and under bonds to testify at the inquest. Miss Poole, who was in Chicago, returned to her home to aid her father in his legal battle.

Miss Poole and her brother were taken to the Poole farm, which is five miles from Fowler, to aid the authorities in their investigation.

Farmers in the vicinity of Fowler have always feared Poole, according to the sheriff. He was known as a "bad man," and when Emory first spread the news that his father had probably slain Kemper, the neighbors did not want to investigate fearing "Shotgun John" would attack them.

GOT $34.55 IN YOUR POCKET?

Treasury Department Says That Is Average Per Capita Circulation.

Washington, May 5.—If you can not run your hand into your pocket and haul forth a roll of $34.55 you are not financially an average man.

A statement just issued by the United States treasury department gives that amount as the per capita circulation, basing the figures upon an estimated population on May 1, 1911, of 93,705,000. The department showed that on that date there was a general stock of money amounting to $3,546,574,337, which included $308,936,220 held in the treasury and $3,237,638,117 in circulation.

COURT JOLTS SHERIFF

Reprimand Is for Letting Prisoner Enter Saloon.

Witnesses in Dietz Shooting Case in Hayward, Wis., Examined by Accused.

Hayward, Wis., May 5.—When court opened for a continuance of the trial of John F. Dietz, his wife and son, Leslie, for the alleged murder of Deputy Oscar Harp, Judge Reid reprimanded Sheriff Fred L. Clark for allowing Dietz to walk around town last night and permitting him to enter a saloon. Judge Reid informed the sheriff that a punishment was provided by law for any officer who allowed a prisoner such latitude.

Henry Thayer of Winter, one of the deputies who took part in the assault on the Dietz home Oct. 8 last, testified he saw gun flashes from the Dietz barn as Harp died.

On being cross-examined by Dietz Thayer admitted he had no means of knowing it was one of the shots coming from the barn that killed Harp.

Angus Campbell, another deputy, who was with Jack Britton in the "lookout" when the firing on Leslie Dietz began, testified that he heard reports from the barn and bullets "kicked" up the sand in front of him.

Con Hollen of Winter, another deputy, testified that just outside of Winter, Wis., while the deputies were transferring John and Leslie Dietz from a wagon to an automobile en route to jail, Fred Thobann said to Dietz:

"Well, you did pretty well, anyhow."

To which Dietz answered: "How could I have done any better. You all know where I was and you were hidden behind stumps. I shot at you twice as you were crossing the flowage, didn't I, Fred?"

OFFICERS' SALARIES CUT

Railroad Increases Employees' Pay, but Freighters Are Same.

Indianapolis, May 5.—Officers of the Chicago & Eastern Illinois railroad were compelled to submit to a reduction of salaries amounting to $37,000 last year in order to offset in part the increased pay to employees, according to the story told to the state board of tax-commissioners by E. H. Senef, of Chicago, who appeared for the road.

"We have been unable to increase our freight rates to meet the cost of living for railroads," said Mr. Senef, "while we have increased the wages of our employees approximately 20 per cent."

BRIBERY MUCK GROWS DEEPER

Prosecutor Hints of More Developments to Come.

MASS OF EVIDENCE SECURED

Suspected Corruption in Ohio Legislature Led to Hiring of Burns Detectives to Pose as Lobbyists and Obtain Evidence.

Columbus, O., May 5.—"We have just scratched the surface," remarked Prosecuting Attorney Turner, who has been presenting legislative bribery evidence to the grand jury, which has now adjourned until Monday.

When the jury meets again, it is believed that two or more legislators will be indicted at once and that other indictments will follow during the week. That these will be numerous was forecasted when Mr. Turner announced that the grand jury would have to let up until Monday in order that he and his assistants and Attorney General Hogan could examine into proffered evidence involving many legislators.

From members of the assembly, from anonymous letters, and from detectives, a great amount of material, most of it useful, has been collected for the consideration of the grand jury. Turner, while indicating that there were important developments to come and while stating clearly that the evidence secured by detectives while acting as lobbyists, comprised only a small part of the clues secured, refused to say how many legislators would be indicted. There is every likelihood that the indictments will affect both past and present members of the legislature.

Among witnesses before the grand jury were W. R. Hopkins and C. R. Shuler of Cleveland, who are interested in the passage of the Edwards subway bill, which would give subway companies practical control of streets for all purposes, car lines, sewers, telegraph, telephone lines, etc. The Manufacturers' Association hired the Burns detectives three weeks ago to pose as lobbyists and put up a come-on game for the bribe takers.

Indicating that the grand jury knew about more corruption than was covered in the few cases which the detectives exposed, is the fact that Representative Nye was indicted on four different charges, in two of which it is said the detectives were not concerned. "These indictments showed that we knew more about the bribery reports than was advanced by the detectives," said Prosecutor Turner. "The trials will commence May 15 if I can get through with the grand jury. There has been talk of suspending the indicted members pending trial, but nothing has come of the suggestion."

VERDICT IS INNOCUOUS

Blame for Fatal Wreck Is Laid upon No One.

Jury at Inquest Shuts Its Eyes to Testimony Most Damaging to Railroad Management.

Easton, Pa., May 5.—Notwithstanding the fact that the testimony given at Coroner Kinney's inquest was of a character most damaging to the maintenance of way department of the Pennsylvania railroad, the jury returned a verdict which reads in part: "That Miss Eleanor Rutherford of Utica, N. Y., came to her death on the Pennsylvania railroad near Martin's Creek, N. J., April 29, by reason of an accident due, according to the evidence, to a defective road bed."

There is nothing in the verdict, Prosecutor Stryker says, on which he can order a criminal prosecution.

That there was carelessness on the part of some one, or perhaps several, was shown and that ends of the ties were rotten was sworn to by an important witness, also that rotten ties at the scene of the wreck were burned in a field, by somebody's order, on the day of the disaster.

REPRESENTATIVES OF BIBLE SOCIETY TO FILL LOCAL PULPITS SUNDAY

On Sunday, May 21, the pulpits of the city will be filled morning and evening with representatives of the American Bible society, presenting their cause.

BIG TIME IS PLANNED FOR BOY SCOUTS

The Boy Scouts met last night at the high school with the officers and council and genuine enthusiasm was shown by all present. Many things of interest and importance to the Scouts were talked and decided upon. The big field rally that has been talked of and postponed a couple of times on account of snow and bad weather will be held Saturday, May 13, "for sure and certain." And a big meeting it will be. The boys and men (and it is hoped that there will be many men) will meet at King's Flats just south of town at 11 o'clock. The first thing on the program is a big dinner, each boy being his own provider, his own cook, and his own consumer. "After the dishes have been washed" there will be all sorts of feats of strength and daring and fun, by individuals and by patrols. Rev. Creighton Thursday night "threw the gauntlet" before the boys or "waved the red flag" by saying that he had the best patrol in the city and that he would continue to believe it until the boys "showed him" otherwise. From the expression made by the boys of the different patrols present he will have "to show them" at this field meet.

So a grand, good, big contest is now on and it will be "Greek against Greek." The details of this bout will be worked out by the officers of the organization, and, as Rev. Gardam suggested at the meeting, pains will be taken to procure impartial judges. Another matter that was brought up at the meeting last night and that met with as much enthusiasm on the part of the boys as the field meet, was their participation in the big G. A. R. reunion here in June. When they were told that the G. A. R. officials were ready to set up a special camp of big tents down town to serve as their headquarters and that they were to have special work of first aid to the injured and other important things under their charge, and that the tents were to be fitted up with cots and other conveniences so that there could be day and night shifts with the many pleasant things happening all the time, the boys could not repress their enthusiasm. They could see very quickly that the liveliest place in all Ypsilanti those three days of June would be the Boy Scout headquarters.

The matter of additional uniform was taken up by the Council and it was decided that the boys can now buy the scout shirts and pants, if they so desire. Nothing is compulsory about it however.

Prof. Sherzer, the president, who is an expert in the teaching of swimming has secured the use of the Normal gymnasium swimming pool for teaching all Scouts who do not know how to swim and he offered very kindly to teach all Scouts this trick free of charge, and will make a call for a meeting of the class soon. He can teach any one how to swim in one hour's time. D. L. Quirk, Jr., another expert on swimming, offered his services to the Boy Scouts this summer.

Things have now opened up for the boys and from now on "there will be something doing."

DEBATE ON FREE LIST BILL WILL END SATURDAY

Washington, May 5.—The end of the long-winded discussion of the farmers' free list bill in the house came in sight when Representative Underwood of Alabama secured an agreement ending general debate on the measure Saturday evening. This makes it probable that a vote will be reached Monday night after the bill is ready for amendment.

Representative Foelt in a speech on the free list bill declared that there is a strong sentiment for annexation to the United States in Canada and forecasted intervention in Mexico before the end of this session of congress. Half a score of members discussed the free list bill.

PEACE PARLEY NOW GOING ON

Commissioners Say Agreement Will Come within Three Days.

DIAZ RECOGNIZES REVOLUTION

Early Retirement of President May Be Insisted Upon by Insurrectos and That May Yet Cause Hitch.

El Paso, May 5.—At the conclusion of the first day's session of the peace conference both the Mexican and insurrecto commissioners insisted that progress was being made.

The nearest they would come to telling anything, however, was to say that it looked as if a peace agreement would be reached within three days.

The matter of the retirement of Diaz as president is to be discussed and may be the one feature on which there will be the greatest difficulty in agreeing, if it does not cause an absolute break. The insurrectos will insist that some assurance be given of the early retirement of Diaz.

Sessions held thus far were devoted practically to outlining a method of procedure and passing the questions on which there is no disagreement, such as the right of the insurrectos to retain their arms, division of government, elections of minor officials, etc. Today the bigger issues will be considered, including the retirement of Diaz, the methods of regaining the land in the big estates and its distribution to the people, and features of this sort.

In the credentials of his commissioner President Diaz recognizes, through Senator Limantour, the existence of a revolution. In the past Madero has always been addressed as "Citizen Madero."

Provisional President Madero received a telegram from Mexico City informing him that an armistice had been entered into in the states of Morelos and Cuernavaca and advising also that the insurrectos had entered into negotiations for peace. He replied that he approved the armistice, but denied their right to treat for peace inasmuch as the peace commission treating for all Mexico is now in session here.

MINSTREL MEN MAKE BIG HIT WITH AUDIENCE

A big house greeted the initial performance of the fifth annual minstrel show put on by the Normal men at Normal Hall Thursday evening. The program from start to finish was full of mirth-provoking situations. The whole affair was fully up to the high standard set in former years and equalled the anticipations of the audience.

The first part consisted of a carnival of frolic and song interspersed with pointed jokes and local hits, and included, solos by the end men, who were supported by a chorus of 30 male singers in beautiful rich colonial costumes. Reyer in his song, "I'd rather be a little too soon than just a little bit too late," Parsons in "Little Alabama Coon," Whitmore in "Lovey Joe" and Byrn in "I love a lassie," a Scotch specialty, brought down the house. Other solos were "Rosalind, sweet Rosalind" by Willard, "In the Garden of my Heart" by Becker and "Alamo Rag" by Jennings. Prof. Lathers in his dignified manner ably filled the part of interlocutor.

The second part of four acts contained a number of clever numbers including lides of local college scenes which were accompanied with a song by George Willard with words explanatory. This number also contained life sketches of different members of the faculty illustrating their various hobbies. Among them were Prof. Peet with his baby car and hobby, adulterated foods; Prof. Ford and Prof. Jefferson, the tramps; Prof. Harvey, tiller of the soil who is always ready with a story; Prof. Sherzer, scout master, and "Prexy" and his new grandchild.

One of the hits of the evening was side-splitting pantomime "Alec in Woodyland" by Phil-up Hall, "The Man of Mystery," assisted by Byrn in which chairs and tables appeared before the audience and as mysteriously disappeared, birds and animals floated through the air busively creating many funny situations.

Much credit of the success is due to J. L. Fisk general manager, and William F. Reyer, musical director. The proceeds of the two performances will go to the Oratorical association.

Indiana Man Selects Queer Hiding Place for Riches.

Indianapolis, May 5.—Wilkinson Tout, a wealthy man, died several days ago and relatives failed to find a will. Looking under the house he noticed tracks in the earth and further search revealed a gallon stone jar buried in the ground.

It contained about $5,000 in securities. Tout was known to have had a large sum of cash, and it is supposed to be buried somewhere about the house.

The child, frightened, ran screaming to the home of his older brother near by, and was barely able to speak the few words telling them of his father's condition. Cregor and his wife had been separated for several weeks, and the latter filed a suit for divorce last Thursday, alleging failure to provide and asking custody of their children.

ROOSEVELT ON DYNAMITERS

Former President Denounces Bomb "Murders."

TAKES RAP AT LABOR LEADERS

Flays Those Who Rushed to the Defense of the Alleged Dynamiters Without Waiting to Learn Facts in the Case.

New York, May 5.—Former President Theodore Roosevelt will have a signed article entitled "Murder Is Murder," in the Outlook this week. It deals with the dynamiting of the Los Angeles Times building and the arrests recently made by Detective Burns. Mr. Roosevelt says in the article:

"There is one feature of the developments as regards the arrest of certain alleged labor men in connection with the dynamite outrage perpetrated against the Los Angeles Times which especially attention should be called.

"If the explosion was not an accident, but the deliberate act of any man or men, it was an outrage of dastardly iniquity, for it was one of those crimes in which the murderer, in order to gratify his spite against an individual, not merely wrecked that individual's property, but with callous indifference takes the lives of scores of innocent people as an incident to the achievement of his sinister and criminal purpose.

"The men responsible for the dynamiting of the Los Angeles Times building are responsible not only for the wreck of the newspaper offices, but for the loss of many lives. * * * I state the convictions of the Outlook in expressing its hearty reprobation of the conduct of those labor leaders, who, without waiting to know anything of the facts of the case, have at once flown publicly to the defense of the alleged dynamiters whom Mr. Burns has now arrested, and who talk about the arrests as being part of a conspiracy against union labor.

"No worse service can be rendered by labor union leaders to the cause of unionism than that which they render when they seek to identify the cause of unionism with the cause of any man guilty of a murderous attack of this nature.

"I have no idea whether the men arrested on Mr. Burns' statements are or are not guilty; the labor leaders in question have no idea whether or not they are.

"They are entitled to an absolutely fair trial. If they have no money to provide counsel for themselves, then it would be entirely proper for any body of men to furnish them the requisite funds, simply as an incident in securing them a fair trial. But it is grossly improper to try to create a public opinion in favor of the arrested men simply because the crime of which they are accused is committed against a capitalist or a corporation, and because the men who are charged with committing it are members of a labor union."

IT'S ALMOST FLY TIME AGAIN.

Since the discovery that the mosquito is a very common conveyor of disease, it has also been discovered that the fly—the common house-fly—is even worse. A campaign for the extermination, practically, of the house-fly was started last year and gained some impetus; but the campaign this year is to be very much more extensive, as well as comprehensive and systematic. There is a combination, so far composed of the Department of Agriculture, the American Civic association and a constantly increasing number of newspapers, for the purpose of putting the fly out of business.

It is proposed to disseminate daily instruction on the fly evil in the large and small newspapers throughout the country. Another feature of the proposed campaign will be the introduction into the moving picture theatres of illustrations of the manner in which flies carry disease and also giving free illustrated neighborhood lectures on the subject. It is thought to reach directly the housewives of the country through a campaign of education by women's clubs. City councils and other governing bodies will be asked to enact and enforce laws requiring the protection of garbage from flies and the screening of food publicly exposed.

As one influential metropolitan newspaper editorially says, "All this is in the line of progress. The protection of the public health and the education of the public in the matter of sanitation are of commanding importance. The world has numerous pests, but the mosquito and the fly are those which should properly engage immediate attention. The mosquito breeds in stagnant water and inoculates its victims with malaria and other diseases. There should be no stagnant water. The fly breeds in the refuse of the stable and the kitchen and scatters typhoid and other germs wherever he goes. The refuse in which the fly breeds should not be allowed to accumulate."

Ypsilanti always has a thousand or more visitors in her midst from all over the country. She should see to it that she advertises herself as a conspicuously clean city. In addition to the thousand or more students always with us, we will have several thousand G. A. R. in our midst, immediately upon the closing of this year's school. So let us see to it that Ypsilanti is conspicuous as an example of a clean city, one in which flies do not pester our guests or ourselves, nor contaminate the air, nor the food, nor the water which we consume.

"Do it for Ypsilanti" and her guests.

More Reasons Why the Regal Shoe Co. Smashed Shoe-Trade Traditions In the Interests of Public Economy

Have You Ever Heard of Stephenson's Cow?

When George Stephenson, first builder of steam locomotives, was asked "What would happen to your machine if a cow got on the track?" he replied, with a grin,—"Weel, that would be bad—for the cow!"

When it was declared that the custom of the shoe-trade forbade selling Regal Shoes at any except "even money," half-dollar prices, the Regal Shoe Company said, in substance, "That's going to be bad—for the custom."

Any trade custom that gets in the way of modern, economic progress is liable to be hurt. Sometimes the collision is long delayed, but it is sure to come. And the public always gains by it.

Referring to a Historic Collision

Some years ago, the Regal Idea collided violently with the tradition that shoes could not be sold except through jobbers. But the jobber was brushed off the Regal track and Regal Shoes were sent straight through to their wearers by way of Regal's own stores and agencies.

The trade sent up howls of pity and protest, but the money and time saved by cutting out the jobber made Regal Shoes the best values the public had ever seen. Regal success dates from that collision, and the road they cleared has been used by many manufacturers since.

Now They Have Knocked Another Obstruction Off the Track

This obstruction was the shoe-trade custom of invariably marking standard makes of shoes at certain arbitrary "even money" prices—prices that were always multiples of a half-dollar. All your life, until now, you have paid for every pair of good shoes you have ever bought some price measured in full dollars or half-dollars. It was always $3.50, or $4, or $4.50, or $5, or so on, upward.

This is a custom that, if rigidly followed, is economically wrong in a dozen different ways—all of them bad for the consumer and some of them bad for the manufacturer as well.

Some of the Ways It is Wrong

It forces manufacturers to build shoes to fit certain prices, instead of building shoes exactly as they ought to be built and letting the prices fix themselves. It prevents the manufacturer from reducing his retail prices when leather goes down a little (because he cannot make a reduction of less than a full half-dollar) and yet it might make him put his retail price up one full half-dollar jump if leather went up ever so little.

It is a custom that compels you to pay in half-dollars when the price might often be reckoned in quarters or dimes or nickels. That is to say, a shoe that could be sold at, say, $4.35, must either be "built up" to cost $4.50 or trimmed down to cost $4. In the first case you lose in money; in the second, you lose in quality.

In short, it is a custom that blocks the way of the "Regal Idea"—which is to get Regal Shoes to the public at the narrowest possible margin of price over cost.

Therefore Regal Ran Straight Over It

The crash of the collision is echoing all through the shoe trade. But, as before, many of the shoe-men who now stand aghast, or rise to call us "Price Cutters," will eventually follow the track that has been cleared for them.

Regal Shoes Are Now Sold At What It Costs To Make Them, Plus 5 Per Cent. Commission And What It Costs To Sell Them.

The price, whether it figures in "odd" money or in "even" money, is verified by chartered public accountants and STAMPED ON THE SHOE AT THE FACTORY.

This stamp is your guarantee that the Regal Shoe you buy is the best shoe that can be bought for the price you pay.

Regal Prices are now $3.35 to $5.85

The Pittsfield Ladies' Aid society held its monthly meeting with Mrs.
Delaney Begole and with her as hostesse were associated Mrs. S. E. Crittenden, Mrs. E. Crittenden, and Mrs.
M. R. Crane. Resolutions were framed on the recent death of Miss Mary Crane. A quilt was tied and finished and blocks for another piece in part.
Mrs. Louis Rice, chairman of the program committee, had prepared the following program, which was rendered: Reading, Miss Nellie Sherwood; piano solo, Mrs. Ernest Eddy; reading, Mrs. N. J. Moore; vocal duet, Mrs.
Emma Bray and Miss Sara Parsons;

and Miss Mary Lambie. A tempting supper was served at the close of the afternoon.

Birthday Well Observed.

Mrs. Fremont Randall gave a dinner party Thursday in honor of her son, Frank Randall's, birthday. Covers were laid for eight. The table decorations were pink and white carnations and smilax. In the evening

Mr. Randall was given a birthday surprise by thirty-five of his friends.
Cards were played and the prizes were won by ladies Mrs. B. Misener, the first; Mrs. E. Conley, second, and Mrs. E. King, the third. Gentlemen:
R. Northard, the first; J. Marquardt, second, and consolation, Elmer King.
The guests presented Mr. Randall with a silk umbrella. Supper was served and the remainder of the time spent in dancing.

Enjoyable Aid Meeting.

The meeting of the Presbyterian Ladies' Aid, held Thursday at the home of Mrs. W. B. Arbaugh, was an especially enjoyable one. Mrs. Milton Webb recited Longfellow's "San-dolphin," and Mrs. H. D. Wells read
"The Last Will of Queen Isabella."
The ladies considered the advisability of changing the date of their meeting to the second Thursday of the month that it might not interfere with the Pittsfield Ladies' Aid, as many ladies are interested in both societies. A particularly delicious picnic tea was served. Fully forty-five ladies were present.

Big I. P. T. Party.

Nearly a hundred couples attended the party given by the I. P. T. club at the Masonic Temple Thursday. Although this is the first large party given by this club of nine young men from the Cleary College it is the intention of the club that it will not be the last. The music which was furnished by Fischer's orchestra of Kalamazoo was one of the pleasing features of the evening. The program included some of the specialties that were composed for the "J" Hop at Ann Arbor.
A number of out of town guests were present.

Disseuse Church Improvements.

St. Luke's Parish Aid met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. J. W. DaRatt. The question was discussed of purchasing a supply of linen and silver for parish house, and Mrs. Gardam was appointed to look the matter up. Mrs. Da-Ratt was appointed to investigate the matter of getting estimates for the painting of the church doors. The next meeting of the society will be at the home of Mrs. Norval Ayres on Maple street.

Fourteen Gleaners Present.

Mr. and Mrs. George Palmer entertained the Denton Arbor of Gleaners Thursday evening. Fourteen were present. A nice supper finished the evening. The next meeting will be

Never has she published a testimonial or used a letter
